

Submission 107 – Mark Rooney

This is a hobby for most of us to get out of the house and interact with like minded people.

If the RID comes in not only are we expected to undertake repl but you will have the introductory drone ie target/kmart or even the more we'll know units not sold and all sales will go international effectively killing some people's lively hood.

Personally I race in an organised area through council and also freestyle in other areas away from people however this will become a witch hunt from the general public trying to stop young and old people from enjoying another pastime which the government wants to cash in on
