Why would we want this? Fast food is a public health disaster, Google and Amazon and the like are already destroying our planet while mistreating their workers. Why should we give up our peace and privacy so that they can make yet more money? I choose to live far from a main road because I hate traffic noise. I put up with substantially reduced services for the sake of my peace and do not want to have drones zipping by all the time. I also love my wildlife and work hard to create a safe place for our native birds and do not want them disturbed and endangered by drones. They are not necessary - it is tech for the sake of tech just to see what can be done and how much like a dystopian movie we can make our planet. Use an EV instead.
